Stand Out When It Counts With Water 2 Wine

This holiday season give a gift that will leave people begging for more instead of wondering what you were thinking.

It happens every year, by the time November and December roll around desks start to fill up with the inevitable array of branded knickknacks ranging from logo covered stress squeeze balls to the ever useful logoed travel alarm clock as companies try to express their gratitude to clients while making sure they're still included in the next budget cycle. Without doubt these trinkets and gifts are well intentioned, but it is unfortunate that most of them will either be tossed out or left to spend the remainder of their days in the back of a desk drawer right next to the typewriter tape that hasn't been touched since 1989.

What is it that makes that stress squeeze ball printed with a logo seem like such a great idea when it is being ordered in September? Generally these decisions are made by people whose eye is on the bottom line, and with ten dollars to devote to each client, the general consensus is that it isn't possible to do a whole lot better than another logoed coffee cup this year; especially as budgets are tightened. If only someone had thought far enough ahead to have some fine wine custom bottled and labeled as gifts. Luckily, this isn't as complicated or as expensive as it sounds. Water2Wine offers batches of wine with custom labels starting at $250 for 28 bottles which brings the cost of impressing your clients with something they'll use and enjoy all the way down to nine dollars. Which gift will be more appreciated; the oversized flip cover calculator or the bottle of fine wine?

Water 2 Wine works with over 100 vineyards from 13 countries to source only the best post crush "must" which begins to explain the 23 awards winemaker Derek Handley has won since the Centennial Water 2 Wine location opened its doors only three years ago. On top of excellent must from some of the world's best wineries, every wine made at Water 2 Wine is low in sulfites and has no histamines, making the morning after much more pleasant for those who imbibe. Part of the fun of doing your corporate gift shopping at Water2Wine is being able to take part in the creation of a batch of wine. After sampling your choice of over 80 different wines, it is up to you- the winemaker for a day- to mix, ferment, bottle and label your very own wine. All this does come with a need for patience though, as wine needs to ferment for 45 days before it can be bottled. As they say, good gifts come from those who wait.
